SUMMARY

Junior Front-End developer with some experience in markup and Javascript. I love learning new technologies and setting everyday goals to increase my knowledge in this field. At first, I learned everything myself which was pretty hard at first, but this kind of practice gave me huge experience on fast learning and focusing on real problems. Right now I'm very focused on daily exercises, learning new libraries, practicing in Javascript, and working on new projects. At this moment I have joined courses of React to improve my knowledge in Javascript and learn React. My goal is to gain as much knowledge as I can from a working process and then use it to start my own business. I enjoy working in teams and solving tough problems.
